Subject: PAVe is Hosting an Informational Lecture Series for High School Seniors in Lawrence

News Release

For Immediate Release

October 9, 2019

In an effort to end vaping and e-cigarettes by youth, Parents Against Vaping and E-Cigarettes is coming to high schools.

PAVe will be at Lawrence High School on October 28th, at 2:30pm to speak to seniors.

The organization will be speaking on the dangers of vaping and e-cigarettes.

“Hosting this organization is a great opportunity for our students to hear from the experts. We’re looking forward to learning from the organization,” John Thomas, LHS principal, said.

The lecture is part of a series, hosted by PAVe. The organization is traveling around the Midwest, stopping at 20 different high schools during October, which is National Healthy Lung Month.

“We’re excited to be spreading our knowledge around the Midwest, we think it’s important to be face to face with students. This series is allowing us the chance to do that,” Marie Smith, PAVe spokesperson, said.

PAVe is a parent led organization that provides information and resources for parents and teens who may be exposed to vaping or e-cigarettes.
